REPORT

OF THE

SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

---

The School Committee respectfully presents the following report :

Our schools, twenty-one summer and eight winter, have been under the charge of twenty-four different teachers,—three males and twenty-one females.

The amount of money raised by the town for school purposes, $1,512.87. Amount of Literary Fund, $120.90.

Whole number of scholars attending school during the year, 563. Average attendance, 429. Total number of different scholars,—boys, 222, girls, 160.

The whole length of summer schools,  $20\frac{1}{2}$  weeks ; average length of summer schools, 10 weeks. Whole number of weeks of winter schools, 72 ; average length of winter schools, 9 weeks. Whole number of scholars attending to each of the following studies : Reading, 558 ; Spelling, 549 ; Penmanship, 243 ; Arithmetic, 428 ; Algebra, 6 ; Grammar, 133 ; Geography, 189 ; History, 4 ; Composition, 21 ; Philosophy, 2 ; Physiology, 8 ; Book-keeping, 4.

Schools commencing after November first are called winter schools.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

Prudential Committee, Jeremiah W. Sanborn ; Clara E. Paige, teacher, Summer term ; length,  $7\frac{1}{2}$  weeks ; different scholars, 33 ; average,  $25\frac{2}{5}$  ; wages, \$22 ; school order, \$100.87. This is a large school, and required very arduous labor on the part of the teacher, whose efforts were unceasing, and not unsuccessful. We are led to report a very rapid and commendable improvement. Miss P. is a teacher whose aim it is to make her pupils accurate and thorough—to know what they go over, instead of going over without knowing; a true idea of teaching.

Winter term, of  $7\frac{1}{2}$  weeks; teacher, Rev. John G. Munsey; different scholars, 36; average, 30; wages, \$30. This was the teacher's third term in this district. Comment is unnecessary. The high and justly earned fame of Mr. M. as a successful instructor is too well established and far spread. Suffice it to say the term was, emphatically, a success.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

Prudential Committee, Charles G. Sanborn; one term of  $13\frac{3}{4}$  weeks; taught by Abbie Hurd, of Barnstead. Whole number of scholars, 25; average attendance, 19; wages, \$24; school order, \$91.89. The Prudential Committee was very wise in securing the services of this most able and efficient instructress. The instruction was of a thorough and practical kind. Order good; a right kind of a school. Closing examination satisfactory to the committee; and the same, we think, may be said by parents and scholars. A good class in Algebra. All excelled in spelling. Teacher remarks,—“ I have felt a deep interest in this school, and endeavored to do my duty faithfully.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

Prudential Committee, Thomas T. Collins; Olive F. Collins taught both terms; Summer term, 7 weeks; whole number of scholars, 17; average, 15; wages, $17; school order, $80.27. Winter term of 8 weeks; different scholars, 16; average, 13; wages, $28. A good teacher. Government excellent, and maintained in a very easy and quiet manner. The recitations of all the classes evinced thoroughness of instruction and close application on the part the pupils. Marked progress in reading, and the advanced class in written arithmetic. The teacher says, in her report,—“It has been a very pleasant term. I have been treated as well, by both parents and scholars, as could be asked.” The teacher belongs in the district.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

Prudential Committee, Oliver L. Green ; Miss Fannie A. Brown, of Barnstead, teacher both terms ; length of first term, 6 weeks ; whole number of scholars, 14 ; average, 13 ; wages, $18 ; school order, $73.21. Miss B. is a good teacher. This was a short term, and yet the progress was such as should win the commendation of all.

Length of Fall term,  $8\frac{2}{5}$  weeks ; different scholars, 18 ; average, 16 ; wages, \$20. This term was no less successful than the first. Instruction, thorough ; recitations, prompt. Advance class in written arithmetic well understood the rules and principles.

DISTRICT NO. 5.

Prudential Committee, William N. Swain. Summer term of 6 weeks taught by Flora E. Marden of Chichester. This was Miss M.'s first attempt at teaching. The term was too short for any marked progress. Miss Marden is a quiet teacher. The teacher remarks,—“I think this a very good school. I tried to do the best I could.” Different scholars, 18 ; average, 13 ; wages, $20.

Winter term of  $14\frac{2}{3}$  weeks, taught by Benj. W. Chapman ; whole number of scholars, 23 ; average, 14 ; wages, \$20. Here are some excellent scholars. All classes did well. The higher mathematics, as Algebra, were studied. The school gave an exhibition near the middle of the term, the scholars doing credit to themselves. School order, \$112.70.

DISTRICT NO. 6.

Prudential Committee, Cyrus F. Gilman ; one term only, of  $16\frac{1}{2}$  weeks, kept by Cyrene A. Straw, of Newfield, Me. ; number of scholars, 12 ; average, 7 ; wages, \$22 ; school order, \$87.80. Miss Straw is a faithful and efficient teacher. She labored with an earnest zeal, and her efforts were crowned with success. Rhetorical exercises commendable. Several friends of education present at its close.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

Prudential Committee, Stephen B. Flanders ; Belle F. Hayes, of Alton, teacher first term of 5 weeks ; different scholars, 12 ; average attendance, 9 ; wages, $10, exclusive of board ; board given ; school order, $41.80. This was the teacher's second term in this district. The term was short, yet the progress was praiseworthy. This district has had its boundaries enlarged during the past year ; and by this wise and judicious act, the assignment of school money is increased.

Winter term of 7 weeks, taught by Emma H. Page ; different scholars, 19 ; average, 17 ; wages, $23. This school appeared well at our first visit. Owing to the extreme bad traveling we did not visit it at the close, but are led to believe it was a good term of school. The district contributed $30 ; a good example for others to follow.

DISTRICT NO. 8.

Prudential Committee, Matthias Weeks ; summer and winter terms taught by Miss Mary E. Whittemore, of Loudon ; length of first term, 8 weeks ; different scholars 14 ; average, 12 ; wages, $23. Winter term of 10 weeks ; different scholars, 17 ; average, 15 ; wages, $23 ; school order, $63.96.

Miss W. fully maintained the reputation given her in last year's report. She has taught three terms in this district, besides a private school. She most certainly stands in the front rank as a thorough and efficient instructress. Her method of instruction is exemplary—practical, not superficial. All classes at the close gave evidence of fine progress. A class in Algebra made praiseworthy advancement. Rhetorical exercises very profitable. The district gave $103.29. This speaks interest in the cause of education.

DISTRICT NO. 9.

Prudential Committee, George W. Hodgdon; Nellie P. Mudgett teacher first term; length, 14 weeks; different scholars, 28; average, 16; wages, $20. This teacher fully maintained the excellent reputation she won in other parts of the town. In her mode of government she exercises excellent judgment. The class in geography excelled. The rhetorical exercises at the close were very interesting and profitable. Miss M. belongs in the district.

Second term, of  $14\frac{2}{3}$  weeks, by Mrs. Francis H. Hodgdon, in her own district; different scholars, 25; average, 14; wages, \$34. This teacher brought to her aid a large share of knowledge obtained by the experience of former years in the profession. Mrs. H. is a fine scholar, of rare attainments, and most deservedly ranks as our most successful teacher. Order good. All classes gave evidence of thorough drill and close application. Rhetorical exercises at the close commendable. School order, \$227.25.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

Prudential Committee, Samuel Eveleth; one term only, of  $10\frac{1}{2}$  weeks; teacher, Miss Flora E. Marden, of Chichester; different scholars, 12; average, 10; wages \$21. A profitable school. The closing examination evinced good improvement, especially in reading. Discipline good. Several visitors present, which bespoke interest in the school. School order, \$57.02.

DISTRICT NO. 11.

Prudential Committee, Asa T. Page ; Miss Anna M. Page teacher both terms. This was the fourth term in this, her own district. Different scholars, 7 ; average, 6 ; length, 6 weeks, first term ; wages, $16. Second term of 14 weeks ; different scholars, 8 ; average, 7 ; wages, 18 ; school order, $66.78. But few scholars, yet it was a school of life and interest. This school was no less successful and satisfactory than the previous year. The teacher constantly gains the love of her pupils, and friendship of the parents. When we consider the age of the scholars, we deem the school ranks second to none in town. The closing examination was very interesting, consisting of rhetorical exercises that were profitable, and witnessed by a goodly number of visitors. Board given.

DISTRICT No. 12.

Prudential Committee, Stephen Sargent ; Miss Clara J. Ross, teacher first term, of 9 weeks ; different scholars, 12 ; average, 7 ; wages, $14. The school appeared well at both visits of the committee. Progress, good. Marked advancement of the advanced class in reading.

Clara E. Page taught the second term, of 12 weeks ; different scholars, 13 ; average, 10 ; wages, $17.36 ; school order, $112.44.

Miss Page is a faithful and efficient instructress. We witnessed very rapid progress in some of the branches pursued. The class in Grammar excelled.

DISTRICT No. 13.

Prudential Committee, Rufus L. Flanders ; one term ; teacher, Laura E. Shepard, of Concord ; different scholars, 27 ; average, 21 ; wages, $24. This was the eighth term in this district. Eulogistic remarks are unnecessary ; the justly earned reputation of Miss Shepard as a successful instructress is too well established. We only remark, this was one of the best appearing schools in town, and the progress second to none. Indeed, this term was of great value to the district. School order, $73.99.

DISTRICT No. 14.

Prudential Committee, Geo. W. Griffin ; one term of 16 weeks ; taught by Lena A. Sargent, of Pittsfield. Whole number of scholars, 19 ; average, 9 ; wages, $20. This was the teacher's third term in this district, which is ample evidence that her services were appreciated. A profitable term. Board and wood given. Amount, $30. This merits praise. School order, $52.45.

DISTRICT No. 15.

Prudential Committee, Wm. Adams ; one term ; teacher, Belle F. Hayes, of Alton ; different scholars, 11 ; average, 6 ; wages, $24. A small school, yet a progressive one. The closing examination evinced marked progress in reading and spelling. Order good. School order, $62.

DISTRICT No. 16.

Prudential Committee, Moses S. Gale ; Laurenia A. Gale, teacher both terms, in her own district. First term, of 8 weeks ; whole number of scholars, 15 ; average, 14 ; wages, $16, not including board ; school order, $80.21 ; board given. Second term, length in weeks, 9 ; different scholars, 15 ; average, 13 ; wages, $24.

It was truly interesting and pleasant to visit this school. As a teacher, Miss Gale possesses sterling worth. Her qualifications, both natural and acquired, render her efforts of the most availing kind, and most deservedly does she stand in the rank of our first class teachers. An excellent disciplinarian. She keeps just such a school as the age demands. The school gave an exhibition at the close creditably.

DISTRICT No. 17.

Prudential Committee, Cyrus Lamprey; one term of 12 weeks; Emma H. Paige, teacher; whole number of scholars, 10; average attendance, 7; wages $13.50; school order, $58.09.

This is a small school, yet some very good scholars. Miss Paige is a very quiet teacher, and had a very quiet and orderly term. Good progress was manifest at the close. Rhetorical exercises were well performed.

DISTRICT No. 18.

Prudential Committee, Charles A. Hatch; summer term, of 6 weeks, by Emma H. Weare; different scholars, 36; average, 28; wages, $28. Mrs. Weare brought to her aid a large share of accumulated knowledge, obtained by several years' experience in the art of teaching. This experience, together with a mind well stored with a thorough knowledge of the arts and sciences, her excellent method of discipline, renders her qualified in every particular to fill the teacher's chair. The pupils made good progress, especially in reading, spelling, and geography.

Winter term of 10 weeks, by Frank S. Black, of Limerick, Me.; different scholars, 51; average, 43; wages, $50.20; school order, $190.44. This is the largest school in town, and requires considerable tact and push to govern and instruct. Mr. Black was equal to the task in both respects. His fine scholarship and gentlemanly deportment in the school-room ought at once to have won the cheerful obedience of every scholar. The closing examination evinced good progress on the part of those who tried. The class in book-keeping and analysis excelled. Parents, support your teachers in the exercise of good, wholesome rules and regulations. Three fourths of the government ought to be done at home, and not impose double diligence on the part of the teacher.

REMARKS.

Citizens of Gilmanton, we present to you our second annual report of your schools, as they have appeared to your committee at his various visits. That our schools are progressing, cannot be denied ; that they are being toned up to a higher point of excellence, we think is evident. Our board of instructors have been superior to those of the previous year, being older and more experienced. Much credit is due the Prudential Committees in securing, as a whole, such able teachers. In seven instances the same teacher, who taught the previous year, has been secured for one or the other terms, securing that uniformity of instruction which is very desirable. We regret to report no new school-houses, though two are very much needed, viz., in Nos. 6 and 10. Two schools (graded) in No. 18, instead of one, are needed. No teacher can do justice to so many scholars and so many classes. Several of the districts have contributed very liberally towards the support of their respective schools ; this is indeed commendable. We have yet much to do, not only to keep our schools where they are, but to carry them forward to that state of perfection that it is our duty and privilege to have them attain. Let us not forget, that what improvement we make in our district schools tends to benefit all classes—the brilliant scholar from the humblest home, equally with the one from the stateliest mansion—and opens to both the path to honor and to usefulness. In conclusion, we remark that there has been no disturbance in any school calling for official interference. We feel a deep sense of gratitude to teachers, scholars, and citizens, for the uniform courtesy and kindness everywhere shown us.

BENJAMIN W. CHAPMAN,

Superintending School Committee.
